

About Rio Martin

Rio Martin is the German creator behind ONE Pulse ODC — a global live format that connects music, artificial intelligence, cultural origin, and immersive technology.

With a background spanning music, entrepreneurship, and media development, Martin brings together creative intuition and structural thinking. His work focuses on transforming personal origin and local culture into scalable live experiences without losing authenticity.

Drawing on decades of cultural observation and hands-on production, he developed ONE Pulse ODC as a new form of live storytelling—where personal identity, regional voices, AI-hosted dialogue, and spatial technology merge into a shared global experience.

Based nearby Münster, Germany, Martin orchestrates the international ODC project from its conceptual core, coordinating creative partners, technology experts, and media collaborators across multiple regions.

His approach is deliberately apolitical, culture-driven, and centered on human resonance.
